

How to draw a snow globe

One step at a time: the black lines are new, the gray ones you drew already.

Let's draw a snow globe! First, a big glass ball with a double edge.

Now a wooden base underneath, with a little plaque on the front.

Now a snowy hill, and a little house with a snowy roof.

Now a chimney, a door, and three little windows on the house.

Now a pointy tree beside the house, with a little trunk.

Now four big snowflakes floating in the glass, and two shiny lines.

Last, wood grain lines on the base.
Give it a shake!
